

Join the SF State Jumpstart AmeriCorps Program

and optional Child Development Permit Pathway!

AmeriCorps

Housed in the Marian Wright Edelman Institute (MWEI) in the Health and Social Sciences Department, the SF State Jumpstart AmeriCorps Program is a workforce development program that employs SF State students to meaningfully impact children's early learning and development in underserved, culturally rich San Francisco preschools.

In partnership with SF State's EED Department, SF State Jumpstart is thrilled to offer an enriching opportunity for aspiring educators interested in social justice and educational equity. All majors are welcome to apply; however, we are particularly looking to hire SF State students interested in careers working in service of young children. Your commitment to service and passion for education are all you need to join us.

Community Engagement Coordinator Position

The Community Engagement Coordinator recruits, trains, and manages volunteers for various Jumpstart service projects that address specific program and community needs. The volunteers engaged can consist of a combination of college students, clubs/service organization members, family members of the children served, community members, Jumpstart alumni, corporate partners, donors/funders, and others who can participate in a range of service projects designed to deepen the site/program's impact and visibility within the community. Service project categories include one-day (short-term) events and/or multi-day (long-term) activities.

Community Engagement Coordinators serve 300 hours, 8-12 hours per week:

JOB REQUIREMENTS

- ✓ Ability to fulfill a yearlong community service commitment
- ✓ Ability to build relationships and work with volunteers, Jumpstart Corps Members, families, and community members
- ✓ Administrative Responsibilities and Additional Training as required
- ✓ Experience recruiting, training, managing, and supporting groups of people to address community needs through service projects
- ✓ Experience with tracking and analyzing data
- ✓ Social media experience

JOB COMPENSATION

Earn and Learn: As the SF State Jumpstart Community Engagement Coordinator, you will earn $22.00 per hour for your service. You have the opportunity to earn up to $2,500 each semester (up to $5,000.00 per year) for your service.
